Felix Lewis

Felix earned recognition for the quality of his work in AP Studio Art during the first semester of the 2018/19 academic year. AP Studio Art is a challenging class where students are expected to complete a high volume of artwork that displays advanced craftsmanship, unique perspectives, confidence to experiment with media and techniques, while demonstrating artistic growth. Displaying a commitment to his work with an investment in time, experimentation and research, Felix has grown and performed well beyond expectation. All of the work and dedication to his art has produced pieces that not only show growth in craftsmanship, but also in the ability of an artist to tell a story and make the viewer think about important issues.
